Then he shook his head and laughed pleasantly, as much as to say, "Oh, no you don't," when the mother hesitated.

"That reminds me," said an old man standing by, "of when I was on a Mississippi steamer with Gen. Scott in 1845. There were forty-five little children on board belonging to some traveling troupe of dancers. Gen. Scott was introduced to one and was unwise enough to kiss her. The rest were at once sent for and he had to kiss them all. The old man was much annoyed."

MISS BAYARD'S NARROW ESCAPE.—Secretary and Miss Bayard took a horseback ride to Cabin | until Ser John bridge Sunday afternoon. Miss Bayard, who is a daring horsewoman, turned her horse down the steep bank near the hotel, towards the bed of the stream. Presumably the horse stumbled and unseated his rider, for in a tew noments he appeared coming up the hill with Miss Bayard, head downward, clinging to one side of the bridle. Her riding habit had caught on the pommel of the saddle, but her presence of mind in clinging to the bridle kept her head clear of the ground. Her father and several other persons caught the horse and rescued her from her dangerous position. Miss Bayard's coolness surprised all those present. Both before and after her rescue she did not show the slightest signs of fear or nervousness. Happily the only damage done was to the riding skirt.

ber of callers yesterday. A baby, which had been christened Grover Cleveland yesterday, nestled in its mother's arms, in the East room, waiting to be kissed by the President. The little tellow got impatient, however, and began to cry lustily, spoiling his good looks, to the great annoyance of the fond mother. When the hand-shaking procession began to file past the President, the mother, with her baby, got down towards the end of the line, so as to get a good chance when her turn came. she marched up with the baby well to the front The President had a grim, determined look in his eye, as he ignored the child and seized the mother's hand in the vain hope of being let chucking the child under the chin. "Nice little fellow; pass on."

Then he shook his head and laughed pleasantly, as much as to say, "Oh, no you don't," when the mother hesitated.

Judge Vincent's Defense.

HE EXPLAINS HIS APPOINTMENT OF EX-SEN-ATOR DORSEY. The Attorney General has received a telegram from Chief Justice Vincent, recently sus-"I infer from newspaper dispatches that my suspension was caused by the ap-pointment of Stephen W. Dorsey as in the Colfax county court. The court having no jurisdiction in United States land matters or business, a bad state of affairs existed in that county. Large numbers of people were divided into angry and hostile factions arising out of strictly local causes. A great part of the remainder were in sympathy with one or the other of these factions. A criminal assault had been made on the county jail and three men killed. armed conflicts were threatened. Disinterested and competent jurges were were difficult to be found. Among the few men who had taken no part, or who had no sympathy with either side, was Dorsey. It was believed that his appointment and action as jury commissioner would greatly tend to alleviate the unhappy condition of things there. My action was dictated solely by this last consideration. I desire to visit Washington for the purpose of my vindication. Please wire me."
This dispatch was indorsed by E. G. Ross, governor; Antony Joseph, Delegate to Congress; H. L. Waldo, ex-chief justice; Charles H. Gildersleeve, chairman territorial democratic committee; Geo. W. Julian, surveyor general, and Geo. W. Lane, secretary of the territory. Every member of the bar in Judge Vincent's district has sent dispatches to the President and Attorney Congral voughing for the chief and Attorney General vouching for the chief justice's fairness upon the bench, and asking that he be accorded a fair hearing. The Attorney Ceneral says no further action will be taken until the whole case has been considered. He has not answered the dispatch, but Judge Vincent not being in office is free to BUS-THE ATTEMPTED FRAUD AT THE LATTER official count of the vote in Hamilton county began at Cincinnati yesterday. While precinct H, first ward, was being called Dr. Thompson came in with Charles Reagan, both judges of election. They brought the missing judges of election. They brought the missing tally sheets, wrapped up in a paper, which they delivered to County Clerk Dalton in that shape, instead of sealed, as the law requires. Dr. Thompson, the republican judge, said he did not sign the tally sheets because counting had been done by the other judges of election while he was at supper election night. In precinct A, fourth ward, the total vote was found to have been 996. Before the election newspaper reports put the total registration in this precinct at about 700.

THOSE ON THE PENSION BUILDING QUIT WORK.

At a meeting of the Bricklayers' union, held last Friday night, a resolution was passed, ordering a general strike throughout the city on all work where less than $4.50 a day was paid. Yesterday the remaining five bricklayers employed on the new Pension building refused to go to work, Gen. Meigs having declined to accede to their demands, while on his private work he is paying $4.50. To-day no bricklayers have been receiving $4.50 per day, but it has been customary to reduce the wages late in the fall when the days were too short to work the same hours as in summer.

COLUMBUS, OHIO, October 20.-The excitement and indignation that were created about noon yesterday continued during the entire day, and the manipulators, forgers, and "boodlers" that fixed up the tally sheet in the interest of the democratic candidates would have been made short work of had they been apprehended. The streets were filled with excited and indignant people, all anxious that the fraud should be sifted and the guilty prosecuted. When the democratic candidates were shown the sheets and the evidences that alterations had been made they denounced the fraud, and through their attorneys gave notice that they would accept no certificate if their islands in the Ægean sea. The people are election was secured by the steal as appeared on the tally sheet. They feel that they have been disgraced in the eyes of the community. The clerk of the board, Mr. Joyce, is severely censured. He was the custodian of the poll books and sheets, and should have known whether they were locked in the safe or had been stolen and taken away on Saturday. The work done required a great deal of time, and the doctoring of the returns made the alterations and insertions reach nearly five thouand changes. There is no evidence to show that the door of the clerk's room was torced or the safe tampered with, giving the clerk the advantage of his own statement. Public senti-ment is pretty well settled that not even ordiary precautions were taken to protect the tally sheets upon which so much depended.

> THE CAMPAIGN IN ENGLAND. Lively Exchange of Compliments Between Lord Randolph Churchill and Mr. Chamberlain. Special Cable Dispatch to THE EVENING STAR. LONDON, October 20.-Greek met Greek in the electorial campaign last night and all political England to-day is ringing with the echoes of their blows. Mr. Chamberlain adseventy-nine on the list seventy-six were found, dressed the liberal association at Burmingham, Lord Randolph Churchill spoke at Kings Lynn. The speeches were aimed at each other and are skeleton of the Indian scout Matotamekeco in very lively reading. Chamberlain referred to dicated a man of over seven feet in height. Lord Randolph as "the author of that extraordinary rigmarole," his electoral address; "a colorless document," "a penny novelist" and "an ignorant schoolboy." Lord Randolph charged Chamberlain with interested motives, with being intensely dishonest and flagrantly imthe moon. Chamberlain's reply to Lord Salisbury's attack at Brighton was most effective. Lord Salisbury, he said, objects to our scheme that local authorities have power to buy land ernment had to take land for the purpose of the security, comfort, prosperity and health, or even to provide for the lives of the people, the privileged land owners exacted an extortionate price. Mr. Chamberlain gave an instructive illustration. The board of works proposed to carry a street through a densely peopled neighborhood, and lessen the cost for improvement by the increased value which the new street would give to the thoroughfare. One great land owner opposed the bill, demanding the front-age along the whole of his property. This meant that the land was to be bought from him at its prospective value, he to have compensation for severance, and ten per cent for the compulsory sale added to the enormous profit of turning his property on the front of a great new thor-oughfare. The commons rejected the clause, and the lords inserted it. The commons threw it out without a division. Said Chamberlain, 'Who do you think was this land owner? It was the Marquis of Salisbury," Lord Randolph Churchill advises the reduction of the school fer to a penny a week for purely elementary education. On the general questions he said: "If you want gilded programs go to the liberals. If you want good government and prudent pro-gress, then I earnestly recommend the great landed interest to close its ranks and support the conservative party." Mr. Phelps' Speech to the Wheelwrights. London, October 20.—Minister Phelps' speech before the company of wheelwrights last night was a great success. Encroachments of the King on the Rights of the Parliament and People. COPENHAGEN, October 20.—The long continued arbitrary policy of King Christian in refusing to dismiss the Estrupp cabinet in compliance with a vote of parliament, and levying alleged unconstitutional taxes because parliament refused to vote the budget, has led to a number of serious riots and imposing demonstrations in Copenhagen against the king and the Estrupp ministry. The people seem determined that their representatives in parliament shall have some voice in the affairs of the government, and have become so threatening in their demands that the King has ordered the garrison at Copenhagen to be largely enforced. These popular manifestations are not confined to Copenhagen alone, but are general throughout Denmark. It is expected that a state of siege will be declared, and it is leared that a revolution will ensue if the King persists in refusing the concessions asked by parliament. A number of political arrests have been made tending to further incite the people and bloodshed is anticipated.

London, October 20.—The case of Mrs. Langtry count to Chelsea for refusing to appear before the county of Chelsea for refusing to appear before the county of the husband, came up for a hearing to-day, but was postponed till November 3d, at the request of her counsel, who pleaded that his client could not appear, owing to professional engagements, which could not be broken without serious damage to defendant. A number of dressmakers' bills are among the items mental that her husband is responsible for the debts. Mr. Langtry's friends state that he is unable to pay the bills, as the only source of income he has at prevolution will ensue if the King persists in refusing the concessions asked by parliament. A number of political arrests have been made tending to further incite the people and bloodshed is anticipated.
